Dear …………………………………………..

I would like to honour you by having your name registered on the National Monument to Migration at the Australian National Maritime Museum in Sydney. To do this, I am forwarding you this letter to seek your permission to do so.

The National Monument to Migration is a tribute to all those who have travelled to Australia and settled here to start a new life. The National Monument to Migration is made up of a series of bronze panels and has names permanently engraved into the surface. The Monument is located on the northern side of the museum building opposite Pyrmont Bay.

As part of this project, the museum maintains a database. In order to share this important heritage information, this database is accessible through the museum's website www.sea.museum.

To date, there are more than 30,000 names registered on the National Monument to Migration. As the database develops, with thousands of entries spanning more than two centuries, it increasingly represents stories of the rich migration heritage that makes Australia what it is today.

The Privacy Act requires that living persons consent to the publication of their personal information. To be represented on the National Monument and in the associated database, please fill in the details below and return to the National Monument Office by email to nationalmonument@sea.museum to ensure your name appears on the next panel being produced.

I (name) …………………………………………………………….

Acknowledge that I am aware of the Australian National Maritime Museum's National Monument to Migration and its related database.

I consent to the museum collecting and storing my personal information and having my name permanently engraved on the National Monument to Migration. I am aware the information provided will be publicly available through the Australian National Maritime Museum website.
